Keeping the bar high for a network consulting company.

Intellys Corporation provides global IT and network consulting for customers at a level of service that would be hard to match in almost any industry. In fact, their turnover rate is an impressive 0.002%. They're able to exceed the expectations of their customers by providing solutions that go beyond network infrastructure and instead, help them meet business goals. Intellys thrives in highly complex environments, especially industries such as healthcare and financial services, and they need partners who can keep up.
